

Veinwave Instructions and Informed Consent

To undergo Vein Wave you must:

NOT have a history of epilepsy or other seizure disorder

NOT have an implanted heart defibrillator, heart pacemaker or any other implanted device

NOT be pregnant or nursing

NOT form keloids after an injury to the skin

NOT have used self tanning lotions (rub on tanners or sprays OTC) for 14 days before treatment

Please tell us if you have an allergy to chromium or nickel, heart disease, diabetes, tattoos or on medications that cause you to bleed more easily (ie. Aspirin, coumadin)

PRE-CARE INSTRUCTIONS:

Please come to your procedure appointment with your face or legs clean of moisturizer, self-tanning lotion or make-up. These materials can interfere with the treatment process. Be prepared to leave your appointment with the treated areas reddened. This is a normal response and will last a number of hours, possibly even longer, depending on area of treatment, length of treatment time and severity of veins treated

POST-CARE INSTRUCTIONS:

FACE: You will have red, raised areas from treatment. Your skin may be itchy. This is completely normal. After a few days you will have some flakey, patchy dry skin or light scabbing that will require no special care beyond your regular daily skincare routine. You may apply aloe vera gel to help soothe sensitive skin, as well as a light moisturizing lotion.

LEGS: You will have red, raised areas from treatment. Your skin may be itchy. You will have "cat-scratch" red marks on treated veins. This is normal. While it is unsightly at first, these marks will start fading as your body absorbs the treated veins.

Although highly unusual, if a treated area is showing signs of infection, please call our office to schedule a follow-up appointment.

Please be patient. Your body's natural response to heal itself, will take time. You will notice the treated veins will fade during a period of 4-6 weeks post treatment. Following your initial treatment, it is not unusual to have an area that will require a touch-up.
